

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:
March 24, 2004

CONTACT:
Matthew J. Miklos
Director, Market Planning
& Development
330.676.7119
mmiklos@schneller.com

Schneller Launches New Web Site

Kent, Ohio, USA – Schneller Inc., has developed a new web site, www.schneller.com, that features the company's global leadership in the design, technology and manufacture of custom engineered decorative laminates and non-textile flooring.

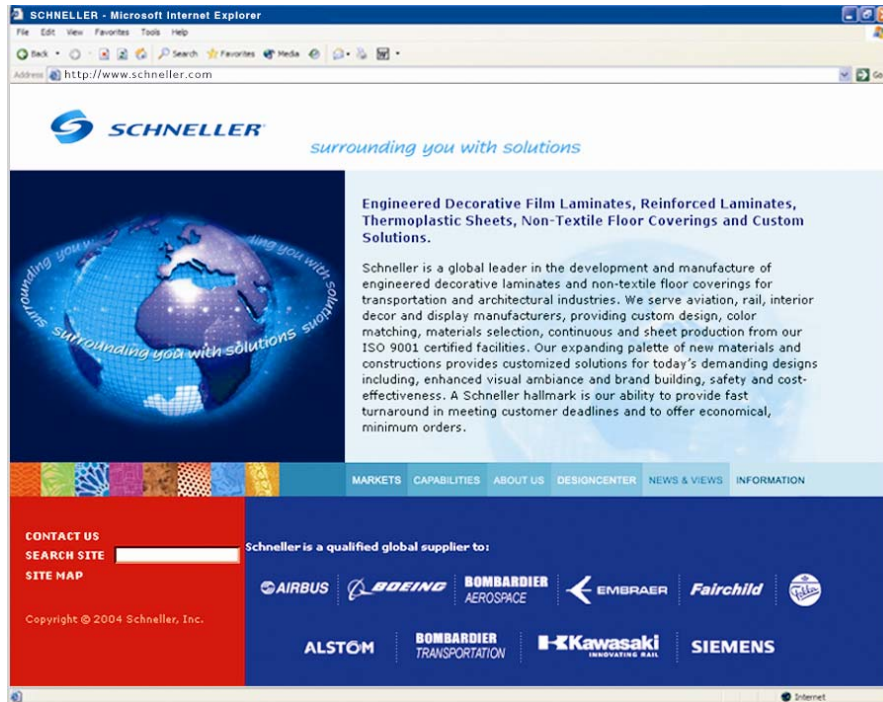

The new site also presents Schneller's expanded capabilities in graphic design services, new product development and ISO 9001 certified manufacturing.

Simple to navigate, the site provides easy access to Schneller's advanced product lines, including film laminates, reinforced laminates, thermoplastic sheets, floor coverings and customized solutions. Detailed product information is available by markets served, aviation, rail and architectural interiors.

Existing and potential customers can now quickly access digital copies of technical data sheets, application guides, and product brochures through the site's Product Document Library.

A second phase of the web site, focused on customer interaction and e-commerce, is already under development.

Schneller is a global leader in the development and production of engineered decorative laminates and non-textile flooring for the transportation and architectural industries. Schneller provides custom design and color matching, material selection, continuous roll and sheet production from its ISO-9001 certified production facilities in Kent, Ohio and Pinellas Park, Florida with global sales and service support from its Paris, France facility.

Schneller launches new interactive web site that provides easy access to information on Schneller capabilities, markets served and product technical data.